

Public Health Awareness Through Video | CCSS

The Costa Rican Social Security Fund (Caja Costarricense de Seguro Social) or CCSS for short, is a public health organization that is actively involved in improving the country's overall health system.

The Costa Rican healthcare system puts an emphasis on preventive care. Hence, CCSS is actively involved in disseminating information to the public, educating the public on various illnesses and medical conditions. A lot of this includes streaming webinars and recorded conferences as on-demand video. CCSS also has several internal meetings, training and communication videos that need to be restricted to certain individuals. Hence, they needed a solution that could be used for both public streaming and secure internal streaming as well.

VIDIZMO, provides a Gartner Recognized Enterprise Video Content Management System, which provides the flexibility to be used in both cases – public streaming and private streaming. It also allowed CCSS to automatically ingest its recorded Zoom meetings and webinars, and make them available as on-demand video to the public.
